

“Third Saturday” April 21 with The Broh Taylor Band

On April 21, the Deadwood Creek Community Center’s “Third Saturday” Live Music, Dinner, Dance Series will welcome The Broh Taylor Blues Band who return to Deadwood a year after their energetic, upbeat performance in April of 2011. The band was honored by the Rainy Day Blues Society in 2009 as winner of the Best New Blues Act, and Joanne Broh was celebrated as winner of best Female Blues Vocalist in 2009 and 2010. Cascade Blues Society chose them in 2011 as finalists in “Journey to Memphis .

The Broh-Taylor Blues Band is a rockin' 5 piece blues band that combines elements of rock, Texas and Chicago blues, as well as funk into their shows. The high energy band members include Joanne Broh –vocals, Terry Dean Taylor-guitar and vocals, Jim Badalich-bass and vocals, Dan.E.Miller-drums and vocals, and EdGunther-sax. Together they deliver the goods to every show they play and have left people dancing and wanting more. They have opened shows for Leon Russell, Ty Curtis, Karen Lovely, Studebaker John and the Hawks, The Strangetones, and Sonny Rhodes and have played on the Eugene Celebration Broadway Stage in 2009 and 2010, the Willamette Valley Blues and Brews stage with broadcast over the internet and radio by KRVM, and the Waterfront Blues Festival in Portland, OR.

Deadwood is pleased to welcome The Broh Taylor Band back for this “Third Saturday” Dinner Dance event, where all ages are welcome. There is a sliding scale donation at the door and the dinner and desserts for sale start at 6:30. Music begins at 7:30. 4.3 miles up Deadwood Creek Rd., off Hwy. 36. 1 1/4 hours from Eugene, 40 minutes from Florence. Call 541-964-5031 for more info.
