Heartfelt Sympathy & Best Wishes to the Family & Friends of Wilma (Wilbur) Cotter
(Passed on July 22nd)

Wilma E. (Wilbur) Wilcut Cotter
1923 - 2013

Wilma Elizabeth Cotter, 90, of Arlington, WA, passed away on Monday, July 22nd from age related causes. She will be sadly missed. Wilma was born in Eugene, OR, June 26, 1923 to William and Margaret Wilbur. They lived in Deadwood, OR and she graduated from Mapleton High School. She was married to Oliver Wilcut; they divorced after 48 years.

Wilma worked as a clipper operator in a veneer plant in Swisshome, OR until she retired. She lived on a farm with Oliver and loved animals and had a variety over the years. She loved her family and every holiday they would gather at the ranch for lots of food and good times.

After she married John Cotter they moved to LaPine, OR and later to Arlington, WA where she lived until her health failed.

Survivors include her husband, John, of Arlington; son, Richard Wilcut (Pat) of Woodburn; daughter, Sandra Abrahamson (Jim) of Eugene, OR; sister, Mary Florence Knowlson of Roseburg, OR; brother, Don Wilbur (Johnette) of Deadwood, OR; step-daughter, Melinda Cook (Darren) of Arlington, WA; six grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren.

No service is planned at this time.

TALES FROM THE TUNNEL

By Mark the non-paper guy

Patrick F. McManus was a writer and humorist for Outdoor Life Magazine for 25 years. When he retired he continued to write. His first book was about camping. It was titled "A Fine and Pleasant Misery". Just like delivering papers in the tunnel.

That being said, you might recall a few months ago I wrote about meeting two little coyote puppies and their mom. Dutifully, by her side, they smiled as mom bared her teeth at me. I saw them again only a few days later, same pose but the puppies weren't smiling. They were baring their teeth just like mom. Well taught!

Coyotes in western Oregon are loners. I see them and into the darkness they flee. I never saw the puppies again, but about 2 years later, I came upon a couple of adult coyotes but they did not run into the woods. They stood by the side of the road and bared their teeth at me! Could it be? I saw those two almost weekly for over a year, always together, always baring their teeth at me. I felt a bond. So fine and pleasant, the misery is I'll probably never see them again.

The bucket list continues. Last week I toured a doyle manufacturing plant in Boring, Oregon. Fascinating. Next week, I'll be spending a day with a plumber learning tricks of the trade in Drain, Oregon. He says he really has his hands full. And to think, I've only just begun retirement. So much to do!!!

- Each and every day, Americans recover for reuse and recycling more than 247 million pounds of paper.

"Pip-squeaks"

I have never before been insulted from beyond the grave, but leave it to my mentor and chief competition for lasting acclaim as Deadwood's "novelist emeritus" to accomplish this most heinous and devious feat of attempted literary one-up-man-ship.

Mr. Upchurch, I had already challenged you to a duel for similar lapses in appropriate behavior, which you have conveniently ducked out on, using your untimely death as an excuse and fleeing to the other side. Remember that you had choice of weapons and selected cow-pies at 20 paces.

Now, in light of this most recent rather juvenile affront to my good name (you didn't even have the respect to spell it right), I promise to hunt you down in eternity. And although you will be immortal, you will surely learn the original meaning of the word "pip-squeak" when I unleash a fusillade of such items from an ambush in Hell. [Webster: First applied to small high-velocity shells used by the Germans in World War I.]

SOME LIGHT THOUGHTS

Of all the senses folks possess
I treasure much their sense of humor.
Some folks have it in excess
And some sad sacks have none at all.
You'll never hear them singing a madrigal.
A few have only bitterness and gall.
I'd rather spend an hour with Mark Twain
Than half a day hearing my wife complain
About something I did or did not do.
Although, thank heaven, such days or few.
Me saying so may sound ridiculous
But I am truly very factitious.
I have never told a lie in my life
Except that last one.

"In thirty-five years the budget of the average family in the U.S. has gone from 18 percent food costs and 9 percent medical costs to 9 percent food costs and 18 percent medical costs."

----Lunatic Farmer Joel Salatin from interview found on <localfoodrights.com> website

Chief Justice of Wisconsin's Supreme Court, Edward G. Ryan said ominously in his address to the graduating class of the University of Wisconsin Law School, "There is looming up a new and dark power... the enterprises of the country are aggregating vast corporate combinations of unexampled capital, boldly marching, not for economical conquests only, but for political power... The question will arise and arise in your day, though perhaps not fully in mine, which shall rule--wealth or man; which shall lead--money or intellect; who shall fill public stations--- educated and patriotic freemen, or the feudal serfs of corporate capital...."

---Edward Ryan spoke these words in 1873, long before the WTO, NAFTA, and DRP's (Dispute Resolution Panels---secret mediation panels between countries and corporations.
